GRADUATE COURSE

Principles and Practices of Mentoring Research
(UGR501 – Spring 2014)

Are you a graduate student who supervises students on research projects? Would you like to develop those mentoring skills for your future career and enhance your Curriculum Vitae in the process?

This hands-on seminar course, taken in conjunction with an actual mentoring experience, develops mentoring skills needed to successfully train junior investigators within a research and innovation environment.

CRN: 42219  Section 0001

Instructor:  Michael Kinnison (mkinnison@maine.edu ; 581-2575)

Format:  1 credit; 8 meetings with readings and written exercises

Meeting time:  A 1.5 hour meeting block To be arranged

Prerequisites:  Permission of instructor and arrangement to concurrently mentor undergraduate, grad or similar research experience